During the review it was found that there was no clarity as to the entitlement and use of medals and ribbons (ribbons) in Nagaland Police. The confusion stems from the legacy of the force. The Nagaland Police force was raised by Officers re- employed and on deputation from the Army and Assam Rifles.

These Officers not only formed the foundation of the police organisation in the state but also influenced police culture. They used service decorations on their uniforms which were entitled to them by virtues of their service in Army and Assam Rifles. The NGOs, NCOs and jawans emulated their leaders by using the same service decorations without being entitled for the same. It is found that Nagaland police personnel are still using such service decorations due to their misconception.

The committee referred to the recently approved Nagaland Police Uniform Code, Orders and notifications available in the Office and on open source platforms to establish for fact that some of the medals used presently like the 9 Year, 20 Years and 30 Years medals are actually entitled to the members of the Armed forces like Army, Navy and Air force. The Samanya Seva Medal is also entitled for the Armed forces and the CPOs like Assam Rifles, CRPF and BSF only. Again the Sangram Medal is not entitled to any Nagaland Police personnel.

The Committee also found that active Nagaland Police personnel are entitled for

1. 4 Civilian awards of the Bharat Ratna series,

2. 6 medals of the Gallantry Series including Police Medal for Gallantry,
3. 3 medals of the Jeevan Raksha Series
4. 4 Campaign medals including Parakram Padak (Wound Medal)
5. 3 Commemorative medals including the 75th Year of Independence.
6. 4 Service Medals
7. 5 Other Medals

It is also found that United Nation Medals earned by Officers by virtue of being deputed to UN peace keeping missions can also be worn on uniform.

The details of the medals including eligibility criteria, notification and description are given in the booklet titled "SERVICE DECORATIONS: POLICE MEDALS AND RIBANDS", which was prepared in the process of this exercise.

The procedure of wearing medals, ribands and miniature medals, Bars and Clasps have also been explained in the booklet.

As a uniformed force it is important to establish the correct usage of Service Decorations which are integral part of our uniform.

The booklet, if approved by authority may serve as a guide and SOP on wearing Service Decorations in the future.

Put up for favor of your kind perusal and necessary action please.

ORDER

It was found that there was lack of clarity in the criteria of eligibility for the use/wear of medals and ribands as notified by the Government for all Police personnel who have been awarded.

A committee was constituted to study and examine the issues.

Consequent upon the report of the Committee, a booklet titled "Service decorations: Police Medals and Ribands" is hereby circulated for ready reference on eligibility, use and wear of service decorations including medals, ribands, bars and clasps.

A clear distinction of unauthorized/ ineligible medals currently in use is also indicated.

Henceforth, the booklet S.O.P. should be strictly followed and unauthorized, ineligible medals and ribands should not be used. All medals and ribbons should be worn in proper manner.

For strict compliance.

COMMON MISCONCEPTIONS

The Nagaland Police was raised by Officers on deputation from the Army, Assam Rifles, Madhya Pradesh Police and re-employment of retired personnel from the army, Assam Rifles and Assam Police.

These Officers not only formed the foundation of the police organisation in the state but also influenced police culture. They used a variety of service decorations which were entitled to them through their previous service. It is found that Nagaland police personnel are still using such service decorations without being entitled for the same.
